Re: New 2010 gmci yenko camaro

Why would they try to build that car knowing that Nickey is already building a legit 2010 Yenko Camaro?  I believe Tom has one of, if not the first, and its sweet.  The car below is the real deal and the pictures are from yenko.net.

the article states that "General Marketing Capital Incorporated (GMCI), the proud new owners of the legendary Yenko name and brand, have announced they will debut the first prototype of the 2010 Yenko Camaro at the SEMA Show in Las Vegas next week."

Tom C has done a lot over the years to support not only Yenko's but other supercars and if anyone deserves the opportunity to build the car Tom and Rob would be good stewards of the project. JMO

Jude do you know who your talking about? Classic Industries has been pumping out camaro parts for years. He's been selling items no one else would touch. His catalog is like looking at a picture portfolio. If anyone has done the hobby good its them. I guess when the SLP subject comes up they'll be just another marketing company too. 2 leaders in the auto industry and their relegated to less than hobbyist? Next GM with the COPO will be relegated to inefficient baftoons. Funny !! This is going to get interesting.
